Barrio in Cleveland=Condado in Columbus. I love Barrio, so I was happy when I heard it was coming to Columbus. I love the build your own taco concept. Customization these days is everything! If you don't live in the area, parking can be a nightmare, but that's downtown for ya.

Very disappointed. I had been to Barrio in Cleveland and was expecting a similar experience. My tacos came with hardly anything on them. I could literally fold the taco over twice and eat the whole thing in one bite. I understand that they are $3 tacos but come on! There were 2 small pieces of meat, hardly any toppings. It was so disappointing. To spend $24 and still walk out hungry is unacceptable. I emailed Ashley and received a canned response that they are sorry and that she will cover the cost of my next taco so I'm giving them 2 stars because of that. Otherwise it would have been 1 Star.

Not the best first impression of a restaurant... if you're in Cleveland, go to Barrio.

The food was okay -- the flavors were good but didn't mesh as well. None of our extras we got didn't come out until after we were finished eating our food so they weren't as helpful (it was taken off the bill though).

We also had to send our colas back because they tasted watered down and they ran out of regular cola (also has to take that off the bill).

The service was okay as but very slow for a mostly empty restaurant. Like I said this was my first time and I doubt I will be going back.

Was super stoked when I found out that Condados was adding a location at Easton. It is a large location and they can get you seated right away. As always with Condado, great food, great prices, leaving full and happy! Great happy hour and a fun place for groups. Still my favorite taco place aside from Barrio(I think it's their sister restaurant?)in CLE. The pineapple guac is to die for, great price and HUGE amount! Always taking leftovers home!

Fantastic atmosphere, very fun and lively! The staff was very helpful and friendly and the food, hands down best tacos ever!!! I love mixing it up on the toppings, each time it's a whole new flavor! I'm from Cleveland so this place looked familiar when I walked in, we have Barrio and from what I understand they were started by brothers. Either way it's a fun place to go!!

If you've ever been to Barrio, it's very similar. I wasn't crazy about their chips. They are pretty greasy, and a little too thick for my taste. Also, they put paprika in the queso. Looks nice, but doesn't mix in well. I was very pleased with the portions. I got the taco bowl, and it was over flowing (which was a nice change)

Ghost pepper sauce is amazing! I want to buy it by the gallon. I was a little disappointed they didn't have the michiliadas ready yet but they were on the menu. My boyfriend moved here from Cleveland and missed Barrio and prefers Condado because the food is just as good but the drink prices are better. And he is a chef who worked at the hottest hotel in Cleveland. He also says the wait staff in the Burgh, although new, by far out shows the staff at Barrio in Cleveland. We win. I won't go downtown for anything but jury duty or this place. High praise. I'm so glad they came here!

If you're from Cleveland and have been to Barrio - you know the drill. Apparently the owner of Condado co-opened Barrio and you can definitely tell as soon as you walk in. At first I was disappointed by this because it's a been there/done that kinda thing, BUT I have to say, Condado does it better.

First of all- BBQ JACKFRUIT. I ordered it because I've never seen it on a menu and I already ordered chips & guac and a pulled pork taco. I have tried plain jackfruit in China and pretty much hated it but I was feeling adventurous. ORDER IT NOW. Honestly it was way better than the pulled pork and I'm (obviously) not even vegan/vegetarian. I believe I paired it with the corn salsa, chipotle creme, and cheddar cheese. Amazing. Who would have thought?

Second, the pickled onions on top of the guacamole are amazing. My friend and I were basically fighting over who got to eat the pickled onions.

Downsides are that this place can get pretty crowded and loud. I was a bit disappointed in the pulled pork taco but that might have been because my jackfruit one was so strangely good. Definitely take a trip in and definitely grab a jackfruit taco!

Vegetarian Powerhouse Menu

The tofu and jackfruit are so incredible that even meat lovers would give up their (albeit fabulous, I've heard) ghost pepper steak to try. I prefer the downtown or Easton location to the Short North because SN just gets so busy but the food is incredible. They always have a queso (and marg & meal) special that changes frequently - get it. They're always very well thought out with solid flavour profiles.

Who cares if they ripped off CLE's Barrio. It's good.

Fantastic food

Hard to get to 100 characters because everything is excellent. Endless possible combinations. It is a little loud but who cares for this food. (Probably says this in other reviews but it has the same roots as Barrio in Cleveland and is basically the same restaurant.)

Great tacos

Some of the best tacos around are at Barrio. You can make your own taco or get one of the ones they suggest monthly, that they put together. Margaritas are AMAZING. The guacamole is not my favorite, but if that is the only setback...I'm happy!

One of my favorites!

Build your own tacos loved it! Everything is fresh and taste is great.

Fabulous service with nice attentive staff and bartenders. Affordable prices and large menu of taco options-loved the 'beef shawarma taco' which was a taco special of the month for June I guess....at any rate all was amazingly delish. This place has always been packed every time I've been there and we drive from North Royalton. They have a similar place right by the Ohio State campus (Condado Tacos) and that place is just as good. I only wish they had one closer to me! But grew up in Lakewood and still love coming 'home.'

Excellent food and great wait staff

We ate here on Saturday afternoon and I will go back when I return to the Cleveland area. The build your own taco concept was great; the chips and salsa were delicious and our waitress was helpful and friendly. I had the pescado del dia on a soft taco, which was excellent. While it was crowded, we were seated quickly, food was delivered quickly and we all enjoyed the meal. It was a delicious and relatively inexpensive meal. LOVE the decor...
